How Do You ZOOM? | Participating in 4-H while social distancing

Wondering how to use Zoom? Due to current health concerns, virtual meetings have quickly become commonplace as organizations, friends and families strive to connect to their professional and social circles remotely.

So, how about a virtual 4-H club meeting?

4-H Leaders could use Zoom, invite all of the club's members, and conduct a regular meeting, virtually. Or consider games and activities that are conducive to virtual meeting. Practice your public presentations skills, or have everyone head to their kitchens and try a new recipe. It's still National Nutrition month, so focus on the 4-H healthy living pillar. Have different club members run the virtual meetings and come up with fun, meaningful activities for the group.

Here is a link to a short video that will explain how to use Zoom on most technology devices. (Tom's Guide)

Here is the link to Zoom Help Center. (Zoom Video Comm, Inc.)

Don't be daunted by all of the help center categories, just focus on the most useful for your purpose, like "Getting Started," and "Audio, Video, Sharing," and "Meetings & Webinars."

During these uncertain times, it's important that we not isolate ourselves from the things we love to do and the people we like to see. Give virtual meetings a try, and let us know all about yours on Facebook!

Horse Forms & Resources including 2020 Qualifying Horse Shows (subject to change)

Project Horse forms & Rabies/Coggins due May 1, 2020

Every day we share information, resources and activities on our Facebook page. We've increased the amount of information we're sharing because we are not able to reach out to youth in-person in classrooms, at club meetings, and at events.
